

Remote accounting aces for Nemus Biosciences

Challenge:

- Nemus Bioscience is a Southern California biopharmaceutical company hot on the trail of developing cannabis-based therapeutics that could alleviate certain medical conditions.
- As just one of four employees, CFO Liz Berez had a tough assignment that she knew would require more resources.
- Through a reverse merger, the small business would quickly become a public company, taking on all the compliance requirements and tight deadlines that go along with that status.

Solution:

- Two RoseRyan pros dove in to assist Berez remotely from our Northern California headquarters. They set up the company's accounting infrastructure and took on transactional activities, including monthly financials, accounts payable and payroll.
- The aces and Berez had a seamless connection, communicating through cloud-based applications, phone calls, emails and the occasional in-person summit. These seasoned pros shared their technical accounting expertise whenever Berez needed it, and they became an essential sounding board for her queries.

Results:

Successful reverse merger

Flawless financial statements

Impressed auditors

Savvy insights when needed

Flexible workflow

Right partners at the right time
